Andong, Republic of Korea

Enjoy a Stylish and Traditional Taste

Three hours from Seoul by car, Andong is located to the north of Gyeongsangbukdo. Located on the Nakdong River, Andong is famous for its traditional culture and various architecture: in particular, Hahoe Village, designated UNESCO World Heritage Site, and Dosan Seowon (lecture hall), known for its training of great scholars are the most representative. Let's take a look at the background of noble scholars who lived honest lives, and taste Andong's healthy and simple food.

GLIMPSE INTO THE LIVES OF NOBLE SCHOLARS

SOUTH KOREA'S 10TH WORLD HERITAGE SITE, HAHOE VILLAGE

The term Hahoe is derived from a branch of the Nakdong River that flows around the village, which is also known as the village of the Pungsan Ryu family, who lived there for 600 years. According to fung-sui, the place is a good location to live, which is why it thrived for such a long time. Ryu Seong-ryong, a member of the Ryu family and Yeonguijeong (advisor to the king) in the Jeoseon Period, is the most famous and also many other family members held positions of power within the contemporary hierarchy. This place was even able to avoid the Imjinwaeran (Japanese invasion), allowing folk traditions and houses to remain intact and well preserved to this day. This explains the joint designation of Andong's Hahoe Village and Gyeongju Yangdong Village as world cultural heritage sites by UNESCO in August 2010. As you enter Hahoe Village, the first things that stands out are the over 130 thatched houses and 100 tiled houses jostled in between. As you walk around, it's easy to get confused by the similarity of neatly-arranged alleys. The main road running east to west through the center divides the village into Bukchon (north village) and Namchon (south village). The largest house, Hwakyongdang, sits in the Bukchon part of Hahoe Village. Over four buildings cover an area of 1700 m²: Ancha, Sarangchae, Sadangchae, and Daemunganchae form a large estate. Noble Ryu Seongryeong's Jongtaek (first son's house) called Chunghyodang is located in Namchon. There is one thing you get to know by looking around Hahoe Village!

The houses of the nobles are always slightly higher than where servants stayed. It is a vivid demonstration of the rigidly-enforced social hierarchy that it even extended to the location of houses. These days, Most of the houses in Hahoe Village are occupied by descendants of the families still living there. It is important to have manners for residents who welcome tourists with their generosity and endure inconvenience for the sake of visitors.

PATH TO THE LECTURE HALL, DOSAN SEOWON

Dosan Seowon stood 27 km away from the center of Andong and was where famous Joseon Period scholar and servant of the king Toegye Lee Hwang established a lecture hall to teach his students. From the ticket office, walk 300 m up the hill to the lecture hall - this path is the heart of the site. Looking down the Nakdong River, take a quiet walk and flash back to the past, as a student walking to the lecture hall to study in the Joseon Period. Let's look at Sisadan, built on the opposite side of the river. It is a place where the students of Toegye took a special examination called 'Dosanbyeolgwa'.

FIND GOOD FOOD IN ANDONG

Andong has three books called 'Sooun Japbang', 'Eumsik Dimibang', and 'Onjubeop' that tell of the culinary culture of Korea. Get a sense of the food enjoyed by the nobles as well as how the Andong region has cherished local products. The food of Andong is not something magnificent or sumptuous, but rather simple and modest, as if to reflect the austere life of its scholars.

CONTEMPORARY STUDENT SNACKS, HEOTJAESATBAP

Andong, Mecca of Confucian culture, is where ancestors are regarded with reverence, and guests received hospitality. People sitting together and sharing food after the ancestor ceremony is known as Eumbok. Then, what is 'Heotjaesatbap'? It means consuming the food of the ancestor ceremony although it is not the day of ceremony. Students at that time who were hungry from studying late into the night ordered their servants to bring them the leftovers from the ancestor ceremony to save face, i.e. due to embarrassment about admitting hunger. Heotjaesatbap consists of various kinds of vegetables, fish, meat, soup and stews.

A characteristic of this food is that red pepper powder is not used, so it is not spicy.

ANDONG SEASONED MACKEREL, A LUXURIOUS DISH OF SCHOLARS

Since the Joseon Period, mackerel has been brought to Andong from the nearest sea, Yeongdeok. Due to poor transportation, delivery within a day was difficult, which is why mackerel underwent a three-stage curing process to prevent it going bad. This was a time before scales or measuring spoons. Nevertheless, Andong citizens developed refined seasoning skills to create deliciously seasoned mackerel using an appropriate amount of salt. Andong's representative food, mackerel, was a luxury for scholars of the period. A crisply-grilled piece of mackerel is sufficient accompaniment to a spoonful of rice.

SWEET AND SOUR DESSERT, ANDONG SIKHYE (TRADITIONAL SWEET RICE PUNCH)

Sikhye is usually just a sweet traditional beverage. However, Andong sikhye is different. A vivid red, even its color stands out. Daikon (white radish), red peppers, ginger juice and water are combined and fermented to produce its spicy and refreshing taste. It provides particular refreshment and aids digestion after meals as it is a fermented drink.

Space of Penang in Malaysia

City of Coexistence

Everything was in perfect harmony. Houses surrounded by trees were neatly lined, and magnificent skyscrapers were standing tall by leaving the dark history in the past. Chinese-style luxury was seen, and little India and genuine taste of Thailand were experienced. Penang – A city hard to describe with a single word! Here, the space of Penang flows.

ANOTHER WORLD – PENANG!

Hot and humid air, tall palm trees under the misty sky, unique fruits are hanging on wild tropical trees, and monkeys are playing on the roof. You may feel wildness even in gardens and farms where people are around. The locals describe Penang as 'jungle'. However, there is something neat and tidy in this jungle city. Skyscrapers and luxurious European-style houses are lined along the coast. There is more in Penang. Clean modern architectures coexist with old buildings in harmony. For this, George Town (the entire city was listed as UNESCO World Heritage Site) has played a leading role. While you walk around the labyrinthine street, you can have unique experiences such as hearing people praying from a mosque and having a strong smell of incense from a Chinese temple. You can see many people bustling around here, praying for the Controller of Time from India. It may be a little confusing, but the locals have created this kind of unique atmosphere. In terms of population, Chinese is the largest (more than a half of the total population), followed by Malaysian and Indian. As a result, you can taste a wide variety of food. The local food tastes unique and delectable with the mixture of Chinese, Indian and Thai recipes. Even though everything is mixed (ex: jungle-city, the past-the present, country-religion, etc.), the life here is simple. Everything looks natural in perfect harmony with surroundings, and the locals live a peaceful life. Penang is a space in which coexistence creates another coexistence. After all, the continuously changing Penang is a city of coexistence.

CHINESE GODDESS OF MERCY KUAN YIN TENG TEMPLE

This temple is the most popular Chinese temple in Penang. It welcomes visitors with a strong incense smell. With the lion monument and green dragon on the red tiled roof, this sacred place is always crowded with believers. This is the oldest Chinese temple in Penang, but it is small. In this temple is enshrined 'Kuan Yin', Goddess of mercy and symbol of fortune, peace and abundance. Therefore, it is also called, 'Goddess of Mercy Temple'. The construction of the temple was first started in 1728 by Chinese immigrants and completed in the 19th century. There are a lot of street vendors in the inside and outside of the temple. You can buy incense from them. Once you entered the temple, you may be able to see people bowing with incense sticks. In the evening, unique traditional Chinese performances are run sometimes. There will be an interesting event on the 19th day of February, June and September in celebration of the Goddess' birthday. Address Lintang P Ramlee Pulau Penang Tel 604-2643494

Kaohsiung's SHOPPING

ONE OF TAIWAN'S TOP THREE NIGHT MARKETS LIOUHE NIGHT MARKET

Liouhe Night Market is the most famous food street in Kaohsiung. Here, you can have a wide variety of Taiwanese and other food. You can also see Japanese-style Catch Doll Machine quite often. It is not hard to see a young couple working on catching a doll on the street. You can also see a huge crowd in front of a storekeeper shouting loud. If you feel empty in your stomach, you can enjoy delicious noodles, fritters and fresh fruit. It is also recommended to have a foot massage and buy a souvenir T-shirt. If possible, it is okay to negotiate the price.

Directions Get off at Sanduo Shopping Street Station (MRT).

TAIPEI 101 AND BROTHERS BUILDING TNTEX SKY TOWER

A skyscraper which can be seen from anywhere in Kaohsiung. It looks like Taipei 101 because it is designed by the same architect. The observatory which consists of Splendor Hotel and observation platform is as high as 74 stories, not 85. As soon as you get on the express elevator, the ceiling turns into dark, and a constellation twinkles. In 43 seconds, you can arrive at the 300m-high observation deck (74-story building). The photos and sculptures of Kaohsiung are on display as well. You can also get some food and drink at the restaurant & bar at a discount of TWD 100. Why don't you come by and get a sweet cocktail?

Directions Get off at Sanduo Shopping Street Station (MRT). Open Hours 08:00-24:00 Admission Fee TWD 100 (adults), free (children)

JOY DISCOVERED IN FORTRESS CIHOU LIGHTHOUSE & CIHOU FORTRESS

Cihou Lighthouse and Cihou Fortress are situated at the mountain peak. Because of hot and humid weather, it may not easy to hike up the mountain. Once you arrive at the peak, however, you may be amazed at the spectacular view of Kaohsiung Coast. Therefore, this place has been popular as the best spot for an outdoor wedding photo. The Cihou Lighthouse was originally built with red bricks by British people in 1883 and remodeled in white by Japanese in 1916. In photos, red lighthouse looks more harmonized. However, current white lighthouse looks fascinating as well. If you walk down the mountain from Cihou Lighthouse, Cihou Fortress appears. This fortress with Chinese-style barracks and '八'-shaped entrance was built in the 17th century. The outer wall is engraved with '喜喜' in wish for a good luck.

New proposal for travel Asia

Outdoor, Eco & Green in ASIA

Run in Busan, Go hiking In Shanghai, and Go trekking in Ho Chi Minh City,
Vietnam. Travel is evolving.
Outdoor craze has hit Asia,
changing the ways of travel.
Traveling Asia is not just massage,
shopping, and spa anymore.
Eco-tour, camping, and hiking are making a new wave. It's time to re-plan your vacation.

Editor Chung Jae-hyuk Photographer Oh Chung-geun, Kim Duk-young

Over the past five years, an outdoor craze has hit Korea. Hiking, trekking, cycling and others swept Korea Peninsula. People who just has been staying indoor all the time started to feel itching to get out. And a move like 'Move your body and enjoy a better life' set on fire. Well-being trend having healthy food is not enough anymore. Mum walks along the river, dad goes to the mountain, boy goes trekking, and girl goes on a cycling picnic. It looks like everybody are keen on outdoor activities. And Korea isn't the only place crazy about this move. The outdoor craze brought a new sensation to the travel industry all over Asia including Hong Kong, Shanghai, Singapore, and Vietnam. Hong Kong, famous for its shopping and gourmet is now being repackaged with urban outdoor, and China's most advanced city, Shanghai is now one of the most desirable eco-shopping destination. If you thought New Zealand and Australia were the only outdoor destinations, you'd better change your mind. What you know about travels in Asia, is just a small fraction of what is offered.

Hong Kong is believed to be a well-known city to everybody, but it is not. The Hong Kong city, consisting of over 230 offshore islands including Hong Kong Island, the Kowloon Peninsula and the New Territories, is hiding an open field, dense forest and boundless ocean behind the skyscrapers. The outdoor craze is sweeping over Hong Kong, and the number of people who enjoy outdoor activities is increasing. Do Jogging in Victoria Park, camp at Sai Wan Beach, and go kayaking on Hoi Ha Wan Sea. Hong Kong is changing. And Shanghai is not exceptional. You can enjoy eco-travel here in Shanghai. Vintage shops are becoming more popular and cosmetics made with all natural ingredients are springing up. There is a huge change ongoing in 'Quick and cheap' Asia travel.

HONG KONG'S URBAN OUTDOOR, SHANGHAI'S ECO-TOURISM

Shanghai portal webzine, echinacities.com, recently released an article titled 'Eco Warrior' on its English site. The article introduces outdoor travels in Shanghai as well as environmental-friendly clothing store, restaurants, and eco-events. A worldwide Eco and outdoor trend has been popular in recent years, and its appeal is nothing new to us. However the fact that the trend is creating a new wave in traveling Asia is pretty impressive. Activities and Day Tour programs for tourists in Shanghai are also introduced in the article. You can do horse riding at Qingqing Riding Club in Songjiang district and you can also do cycling tour through a travel agency like China cycling Tour(www.chinacycletours.com). If you are with your family, try the roller coaster at Shanghai Disney Resort. If you are looking for something tough, try hiking trail at Dongshan. Outdoor trends are diversifying the ways of travel.

Travel depends on how you plan to. There can be different ways of travel for the same spot. It is you who decide what your travel will be like. You can find it boring at even the UNESCO World Heritage site, or lonely as hell at entertainment city LA. On the other hand you may have incredibly exciting time at too familiar Tokyo or Beijing. With people's loving care and attention, an indifferent tourist spot can be converted into an enticing tourist destination. In the end, it is you who decide everything about your travel, and that is how your destinations are created. Let's see what's happening in Southeast Asia. The region that used to be a cheap, simple resort destination in relatively close distance and warm temperatures 10 years ago, has now turned into a great outdoor destinations. Now people visit and travel Southeast Asia with different reasons and plans. Like said before, travel depends on how you plan for it.

REDISCOVERY OF MANILA, JAPAN'S OUTDOOR IN USUAL LIFE

Manila is a superb sample of what a tourism should be. Manila has been loved by many tourists regardless of ages as it provides them with good recreational facilities, as well as solid urban function. You can do shopping, massage and have fun in the water all together in Manila. But lately, Manila has been receiving a lot of attention in golf travel industry. Along with casinos, golf is a large part of a Manila tour. It is highly regarded by many due to its affordable price and good service. Most of the golf clubs in Manila offer all rounding-caddy services and provide different types of golf courses program. They have many available options: half-day, two day, and three day programs. China's Dalian sees increasing golf tourists too. Dalian has over 10 golf clubs, many of them are geologically beneficial as they are located along the southeast coast. Jin Shi Golf Club has 18 holes. Liaoning Dalian

Country Club has 72 courses in a large area. Most golf courses are in the Liaoning region.

Japan is not exceptional when it comes to an outdoor trend. In Japan, there have been always many different kinds of activities available in Mountains and the sea. Now Japan sees even more diversity of travel thanks to the outdoor boom in recent years. The ultimate hot spring destination, Fukuoka now offers much more than just thermal spring. Ohori Park, old castle ruins of Fukuoka, Maizura Park, famous for its cherry blossoms in spring, Tenjin Chuo Park, huge green fields in the middle of downtown. help realize everyday outdoors. In particular, the 31,000 m² Tenjin Chuo Park is a great place for picnics, cycling and walking. Enjoy Eco-tourism in Kitakyushu. The Environment Museum was established for future generations as an open discussion place for raising industrial city Kitakyushu's environmental issue, and introducing cleanup operation. Simulation showing how pollution affects schools, the sea and field in detail is impressive. Eco House linked Environment Museum is an educational exhibition space of recycling and environmental pollution, useful for children. Kitakyushu also has hiking trails in Sakura and Adachi mountains.

NEW TREND IN TRAVEL INDUSTRY, A SIGN OF NEW INTERCHANGE

Travel goes along the current trends. Since the South Korean government started freeing up overseas travel in 1989, travel has been diversified in fast-paced political and economical environments with various trends. Backpacking through Europe was sweeping in the '90s, and Southeast Asia was emerged as a new vacation spot in the late 90s, as well as working holiday boomed up. In 2000's, Northern Europe, Australia and New Zealand were the most popular holiday destinations. If you closely check this trends, you will notice various changes in travel at each region. In the 1990s in Asia Guam was one of hottest holiday destinations for family, and Phuket and Bali were in the spotlight as a honeymoon destinations. In the late '90s Vietnam and India were emerged as a new star. At this very moment a new holiday destination continues to rise. Outdoor craze in recent years brought us a new travel trend. It's not where you travel, It is how you travel. There are more options to choose even in a city you visited before. Visit Busan or Hong Kong if you like mountain. Visit industrial city, Kitakyushu for Eco-tourism. Outdoor, Eco, and green represent a new travel trend in Asia, and also they are the signs of new interchange. Mountains, the sea, and parks in Asia are in high spirits now.

With a goal of promoting cultural and tourism exchange among college students in Asia-Pacific region and establishing the ground to foster professional tourism staff, the first Tourism Universiade 2012 was held in Busan City Hall and Youngsan University from July 23 to 26. A total of 98 college students from 25 cities in 10 countries participated in this event which was co-organized by TPO, Youngsan University and City of Busan. They competed with each other in City Travel Product Planning Contest and Cooking Contest. For four days, they toured around the city including Haeundae, Jagalchi Market, Yongdusan Park and Gukje Market and attended Cooking Class in Im Seong-bin Art School and Special Lectures on City Travel Product Planning Contest.

On Day 1, they had an orientation and unpacked on Day 2 (July 24), they started 'Tourism Universiade 2012'. They visited Jagalchi Market, Gukje Market, Yongdusan Park, BEXCO, NURIMARU and Busan Cinema Center. They were stunned by the perfect harmony between the tradition and modernity in Busan. They showed great interest in the Korean Wave (Hallyu). Some of them sang along K-pop songs on the street and showed a frenzied reaction to Hallyu stars on Korea advertising videos.

On Day 3, the main events - City Travel Product Planning Contest and Cooking Contest - were held. A total of 40 people from 14 cities participated in the Cooking Contest. A wide variety of unique cuisines including Vietnamese lotus spring roll, Thai chicken, Ploff (Uzbekistan), Phat Thai, Quan yu yan(全鱼宴, China) and Silla royal cuisine (Korea) were introduced. The winners were selected by the 6 juries who are renowned culinary experts and professors as follows; Gold Prize, Silver Prize, Bronze Prize and 11 Special Prizes (TPO Secretariat's Prize, Prize by Mayor of City of Ipoh, Prize by Mayor of Ho Chi Minh, Prize by Mayor of Fukuoka, Prize by Mayor of Kagoshima, Korea Tourism Organization President's Prize, Prize by Mayor of Daejeon, Busan Education Chief's Prize, Busan City Council Chairman's Prize, Youngsan University President's Prize and Prize by the President of the Korea Academic Society of Tourism and Leisure).

In 'City Travel Product Planning Contest' which was aimed to advertise tourist resources and food culture and improve understanding of tourism, a total of 58 people from 18 cities (ex: Uzbekistan, Malaysia, Vietnam, China, Korea, Japan, Sri Lanka, Mongolia, etc.) participated and delivered a presentation in English for about 7 minutes each. The winners were selected by the juries (tourism experts and professors) as follows; Gold Prize, Silver Prize, Bronze Prize and 11 Special Prizes (TPO Secretariat's Prize, Prize by Mayor of City of Ipoh, Prize by Mayor of Ho Chi Minh, Prize by Mayor of Fukuoka, Prize by Mayor of Kagoshima, Korea Tourism Organization President's Prize, Prize by Mayor of Daejeon, Busan Education Chief's Prize, Busan City Council Chairman's Prize, Youngsan University President's Prize and Prize by the President of the Korea Academic Society of Tourism and Leisure). The attendance certificate approved by TPO chairman (Mayor of Guangzhou) and souvenir were given to all participants. Tourism Universiade 2012 has established global friendship among TPO member cities and related organizations and strong tourism human resources network and helped students build global mindset. I am already looking forward to Tourism Universiade 2013.
